The Good and the Bad

If we remember the good things of life existence will be the sweeter for us and for those around us. We are too prone to forget the good and dwell upon the seamy side of humanity. It diverts our thoughts from the uplift and plunges us into a gloom that is enhanced by our discontent.

In our own restricted community there is much that is good—there are people whose acts serve as an inspiration to all who would see the brighter side of life. They are unobtrusive, but their influence is beneficial to all with whom they come in contact. They see the sordid side of our existence, but they do not dwell upon it. They see the brightness of the future, and they make it a part of their daily lives. They radiate happiness and contentment wherever they go. And because they see the better side of all people and all things, the sweetness of their own lives is seen by us. It is good to remember that those who think well of the world invariably find that the world thinks well of them.

The sun shines brightly in the lives of all who give it an opportunity to enter.

We are now doing business in the shop formerly occupied by the U. S. Plumbing Company.—H. R. Udick—Plumbing and Heating.

My Compliments, Mabel

There's nothing so good as a cup of Folger's Golden Gate—strong but not rank or bitter.

Different in taste from other coffee and better.
